

.conf20 Terms and Conditions

Published: 24 July 2020

I, as Registrant, hereby acknowledge and agree to the following Splunk Inc. (“Splunk”) terms and conditions, which include and incorporate by reference Splunk’s Privacy Policy and Terms of Use to attend virtual .conf20 (“Event”).

Cancellations/Modifications. We are unable to process cancellations for this Event. The Event program schedule is subject to change at any time without prior notice, and Splunk cannot guarantee the attendance of any exhibitor or speaker or that any scheduled event will take place. Splunk and/or its employees, vendors, agents, and contractors (collectively, its “Representatives”) will not be held liable, if the Event or scheduled activities at the Event are cancelled or rescheduled as a result of any issue, event or occurrence that is beyond Splunk’s control.

Substitutions. If Registrant is unable to attend the Event, Splunk is unable to process any substitutions or transfer of Event registration.

Payments and Discounts. There is no cost to attend and/or discounts available for this Event.

Release. By registering for and attending the Event, Registrant hereby agrees to release and hold harmless Splunk and its Representatives from any demands, claims or actions and any resulting damages, expenses and settlement amounts that arise out of, or relate to, Registrant’s attendance at, and participation in, the Event, including, but not limited to, claims for property damage or bodily or personal injury.

Age Requirement. Registrant must be at least 21 years of age to attend the Event and all related activities.

Photography, Audio, and Video Recordings. Registrant acknowledges that Splunk or its authorized Representatives at the Event may photograph and/or record via audiotape or videotape my activities or presentations at the Event. Registrant hereby irrevocably grants to Splunk and its authorized Representatives, for no compensation, the rights (a) to record by any means (i) Registrant’s name, likeness, image, biographical information, voice and/or the content of any interview with Registrant and (i) if Registrant is a speaker at the Event, to use the name of Registrant’s company, the company’s story and use cases, trademarks, logos and quotes from Registrant (such information collectively, “Recorded Material”) and (b) to edit and use the Recorded Material in connection with Splunk’s internal and external marketing and promotional material and activities. Splunk will not make substantive changes to the Recorded Material without Registrant’s consent. To the extent Registrant has any rights in any Recorded Materials, Registrant hereby assigns to Splunk all rights, title and interests in and to the Recorded Material.

Registrant Recordings. Registrant may not reproduce or record any written materials, the virtual meetings or video, if any, provided by Splunk or any of their speaker(s) during the Event (the “Materials”) in their entirety and distribute them in any form. Registrant may not create audio or video recordings of the Event presentation(s), in its entirety or any portion of the Event presentation(s), given by Splunk or any of their speaker(s) during the Event (the “Presentation Recordings”), and may not simultaneously broadcast or live-stream the Presentation Recordings, or post the Presentation Recordings on any website.

Speakers. Upon submission of your proposal and if selected to be a speaker at the Event, Registrant agrees to terms and conditions at time of proposal submission. Registrant represents, warrants, acknowledges and agrees that (a) Registrant’s presentation materials do not infringe any copyright, trade secret, confidentiality, publicity or privacy right of any third party, (b) Registrant’s presentation materials do not contain libelous or otherwise unlawful material, (c) all factual statements in Registrant’s presentation are based on customary standards of academic research and (d) Splunk is or will be the copyright owner of any recordings made by Splunk or its Representatives of my presentation at the Event. Registrant hereby waives and disclaims any rights Registrant may have to review or approve Recorded Material based on my presentation, except as noted above, and any possible claim arising out of, or related to, the use, alteration or distortion (intentional or otherwise) of Registrant’s image or Recorded Material based on Registrant’s presentation. Registrant hereby releases and holds harmless Splunk and its authorized Representatives for any such use, alteration or distortion. Once Registrant has been officially designated as a speaker at .conf, these Event Terms and Conditions will supplement and/or supersede and replace any conflicting language from the .conf terms and conditions at the time of proposal submission.

Denial of Registration, Entry or Participation. Splunk reserves the right to deny registration or entry to any individual or entity for any reason, in Splunk's sole discretion, including for past or present failure to meet Splunk's standard of business conduct, false pretenses or engaging in violent, illegal, threatening or discriminatory conduct.

Code of Conduct. Registrants must behave in a professional manner at all times during the Event and adhere to the Splunk Event Code of Conduct. Splunk does not permit loud, abusive or defamatory language, harassment or other unprofessional or inappropriate behavior at the Event or through the Splunk Events App at any time. This restriction is inclusive of, but not limited to, gender, gender identity or expression, transgender status, sexual orientation, disability, age, veteran or marital status, physical appearance, body size, race, color, genetic information, national origin, or religious beliefs. Sexual language and imagery are not appropriate for any Event venue, including talks. Harassment includes offensive verbal comments (verbal, written, or otherwise), inappropriate use of nudity and/or sexual images in public spaces (including presentation slides), deliberate intimidation, stalking and/or following, harassing photography and/or recording, sustained disruption of talks or other events (whether verbal or otherwise), inappropriate physical contact, and unwelcome sexual attention. We do not tolerate harassment of Event participants, speakers, or staff in any form.

If you are being harassed, notice that someone else is being harassed, or have any other concerns, please contact a member of the Event staff immediately at gsc@splunk.com.

If Registrant engages in any impermissible conduct at the Event, Splunk may revoke Registrant's right to participate in the Event, in Splunk's sole discretion, without liability to Registrant or its company. If Splunk revokes a Registrant's right to participate in the Event, Registrant will be required to leave the Event and all Event premises immediately without a refund and may restrict Registrants future registration and attendance to Splunk events.

Force majeure. In the event that Splunk is prevented from carrying out its obligations as a result of any cause beyond its control, such as but not limited to an act of God, war, natural disaster, a public health epidemic and/or pandemic, acts or threats of terrorism, civil disturbance, action by governmental entity, strikes, lock-outs, curtailments of transportation services or facilities, the failure of any third party to deliver goods or services for the Event, or any other situation that makes it impossible, illegal or commercially unfeasible for Splunk to hold the Event, Splunk reserves the right to cancel or reschedule the Event, and shall be relieved of its obligations and liabilities in connection therewith.

I represent and warrant that I have the full right and authority to grant the rights and accept the obligations in these terms and conditions and that no third party consent is required for these terms and conditions to be valid and binding.

These terms and conditions shall be governed by California law, without regard to conflict-of-law provisions.